What is the Speech and Drama Festival?

It is a platform to support and foster Speech and Drama education for our children, our students, our teachers, and us, through publicly presenting performances to help participants acquire self-confidence by performing before an audience.

We find trained, professional adjudicators to give candidates the benefit of expert criticism from unbiased adjudicators, who watch, grade and teach the candidates through their performances. We always task them with maintaining world class standards, with the question “if you saw this work anywhere in the world, what would you think of it?”

Who puts the festival together?

The National Institute of Allied Arts (NIAA) is our governing body who oversee all the Festivals, of which Speech and Drama is just one. Its foundation dates back to 1913 and it continues to uphold its mandate of ‘Building the Arts in Zimbabwe’. A dedicated logistics team manage venues, schedule, catering, payments, printing and so much more; and an organizing committee made up of Speech teachers manage the syllabus, rules and regulations of the Festival. We are grateful for the support of our sponsors CABS and Pharmaceutical and Chemical Distributors (PCD).

We also would like to thank the Speech and Drama teachers in all the schools for keeping theatre alive. Lastly to the parents for allowing their children to participate in the arts and supporting our organisation throughout the years.

About the adjudicators:

MELANIE O'CONNOR HORN

Melanie O'Connor Horn has taught Drama to children across all grades. She is currently a director and teacher for Spotlight Youth Theatre. Through her work at Blesbok Arts Trust, Melanie has collaborated with teachers of other art forms, such as art, dance and music, to offer interdisciplinary workshops for children and families.

Melanie spearheads a monthly play-reading programme, which aims to support the work of local playwrights. In March this year she directed a One-Act Festival at the Masque Theatre in Muizenberg, Cape Town, which showcased the work of four local playwrights.

Melanie also works as a trainer and educator in the field of Intellectual Disability.

SUE WILKES

Sue was born in Zimbabwe and had been involved with Junior School, High School and adult drama for 55 years. With a diploma in drama, Sue has taught in Zambia, Bulawayo, Gweru, Triangle and Harare, before she moved to South Africa. Whilst teaching she directed school plays and was also part of the local theatre scene. She is no stranger to the Speech & Drama Festival having entered her own students successfully.

Having become really interested in adult drama while in the Lowveld, where she played parts in many festival plays including "Harvest", "Table Manners", and some Athol Fugard, she joined REPS when back in Harare where she acted in many plays, and improv. Her last performance in Harare was "Fiddler on the Roof", with our Festival Director. Sue also directed two National Theatre Organisation festival plays at REPS, "Prin" and "Crimes of the Heart", and several one act plays.

Sue continued to teach when she moved to South Africa and was in charge of Matric adjudicators at the German School for four years. In Cape Town Sue joined The Masque Theatre, became Chair person of the Drama group MADS. She directed "Table Manners", "Albert" and "Pygmalion" as well as a children's production called "Sipho and the Bright Morning Star". Earlier this year she directed a one act play by a local author called "Inheritance" which was successful. Sue is on the Masque Theatre Board of Directors at present.

GIDEON WABVUTA

Gideon Jeph Wabvuta is a Zimbabwean writer, solo actor and teaching artist who is passionate about creating works of art that will reclaim and reframe the African narrative on the world stage. He holds an MFA in Dramatic Writing from the University of Southern California (2019) and currently works as the programs coordinator for Almasi Collaborative Arts, an organization that fosters cross-cultural artistic exchange. He is also an associate artist and a writing teacher at the Ojai Playwrights Conference, where he developed and performed his solo show Mbare Dreams in 2015. His other plays include Family Riots, Master's Shoe, and Deathbed, which won three NAMA awards, the highest arts honor in Zimbabwe. He has also written and directed for TV and film, such as Wadiwa WePaMoyo Season 2, Mukoma Bruce and 911 Munodeyi.

He is the founder of a Writers' Collective that aims to provide support to fellow writers in the industry. He believes that the writer should never be secondary to the process and strives to tell authentic stories that resonate with audiences across the globe.

The National Institute of Allied Arts would like to thank all our host venues, sponsors and partners for their generous support.

NIAA would like to thank all our auxiliary staff who give their time to ensure that the festival runs smoothly. If you would like to help us with future festivals please contact us.

We require at least four people each session - taking money at the door, checking in the candidates, assisting the adjudicator and announcing.
